

Author: Casey Bellen

Github User: psykibear

Date: 1/25/23

Description: Project 3A Reflection

Project 3A was intended to create the internal structure of the developer to think before the create. It's important to have a basis for design prior to writing your code.

Part of this basis for design includes loops and if/then statements to help structure step ins to not cause infinite loops while doing the comparisons in the most efficient order.